

Special Lecture on
“GENDER JUSTICE AS AN INSTRUMENT OF HUMAN RIGHTS PROTECTION”

Organised by

Department of Education,
Ashutosh Mukhopadhyay School of Educational Sciences,
Assam University, Silchar-78801, Assam

Date: 10th December 2020

Time: 2:00 PM - 4:00 PM

Concept Note:

Human Rights Day is celebrated annually across the world on 10 December every year.

The date was chosen to honour the United Nations General Assembly's adoption and proclamation, on 10 December 1948, of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights (UDHR), the first global enunciation of human rights and one of the first major achievements of the new United Nations. The formal establishment of Human Rights Day occurred at the 317th Plenary Meeting of the General Assembly on 4 December 1950, when the General Assembly declared resolution 423(V), inviting all member states and any other interested organizations to celebrate the day as they saw fit.

The day is normally marked both by high-level political conferences and meetings and by cultural events and exhibitions dealing with human rights issues. Besides, it is traditionally on 10 December that the five-yearly United Nations Prize in the Field of Human Rights and Nobel Peace Prize are awarded. Many governmental and non-governmental organizations active in the human rights field also schedule special events to commemorate the day, as do many civil and social-cause organisations.

Discrimination based on gender is prohibited under almost every human rights treaty, including the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights and the International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights, which under their common article 3 provide for the rights to equality between men and women in the enjoyment of all rights. In addition, the Convention on the Elimination of Discrimination Against Women (CEDAW) is dedicated to the realization of women's human rights. Considered the international bill of rights for women, the Convention defines what constitutes discrimination against women and sets an agenda for national action to end such discrimination.

Objectives:

The objective of this programme is to generate awareness among the target group regarding gender and human rights protection.

- context of human rights law
- critical issues relating to the scope and application of human rights
- challenges to rights-based approach to gender equality

Target Group: The academicians, faculties, research scholars and students would be the target group for the programme.

Mode of Deliberation: The mode will be online for open discussion.
